

Clavier vierge à compléter (AZERTY)

Place toutes les lettres, chiffres et signes de mémoire. Lance un chrono. Ce qui manque ou se trompe de place, c'est ta liste d'exercices de la semaine.

A diagram of a French keyboard layout, specifically the AZERTY configuration. The keys are color-coded to show their function groups: red for vowels (Tab, Verr, Maj, and the four keys to the right of Tab), orange for consonants (the four keys to the right of Verr), yellow for punctuation and symbols (the four keys to the right of the orange group), green for function keys (the four keys to the right of the yellow group), blue for letters (the 16 keys in the middle row), purple for letters (the 16 keys in the bottom row), and pink for punctuation and symbols (the four keys to the right of the purple group). The layout includes a Tab key, a Verr key, a Maj key, a Ctrl key, an Alt key, a large spacebar, an AltGr key, and another Ctrl key. The keys are arranged in four rows: Row 1 (15 keys), Row 2 (15 keys), Row 3 (15 keys), and Row 4 (5 keys). The keys are labeled with their respective characters or functions in French.

Temps : _____ Justes : _____ Manquantes : _____

A diagram of a French keyboard layout, specifically the AZERTY configuration. The keys are color-coded: red for 'A', orange for 'O', yellow for 'U', green for 'E', light green for 'I', blue for 'Y', light blue for 'P', purple for 'M', pink for 'B', and light pink for 'V'. The layout includes standard function keys like Tab, Verr (Verrouillage), Maj (Majuscule), Ctrl, and Alt, as well as a large spacebar. The diagram is presented on a light blue background.

Temps : _____ Justes : _____ Manquantes : _____